4. Value of Program Equipment to Be Installed at No Cost to the Customer

The following Program Equipment will be installed at the Customer Facility to enable communication between the NV Energy demand response management system and the Customer Equipment. In the event that the Customer terminates participation or fails to meet participation requirements during the term of this Agreement, NVE will remove any installed Program Equipment or the Customer may pay the five year straight-line depreciated value remaining on the Program Equipment. The Customer will be liable for equipment charges if this Agreement is terminated within five years and Program Equipment is not returned in good working order. The straight line depreciated value of the Program Equipment will be based on the installed values in the table below. After five years, ownership of the Program Equipment is transferred to the Customer.

Product	Product Code	Quantity	Unit Value	Total Value
Gateway	GW400		$99
Thermostat	TS200		$400
Repeater	WR400		$150
Grand Total

5. Utility Equipment to Be Installed

The following Utility Equipment (if needed) will be installed at the Customer Facility to enable measurement and verification of program performance:

Product	Product Code	Quantity	Unit Value	Total Value
Grand Total

6. Demand Response Events

DR Events will typically be two (2) hour periods where NV Energy will signal the Program Equipment to reduce load by adjusting the temperature set point. DR Season is from June 1 to September 31 in Southern Nevada, and June 1 to September 31 in Northern Nevada. DR events occur between 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. weekdays. You will receive advance e-mail notification of all events.

NV Energy will schedule a DR Test Event to simulate a regular DR Event to ensure Program Equipment and Customer Equipment are communicating and respond appropriately. NV Energy will send a DR signal from the NV Energy demand response automation server to initiate the pre-defined actions to be taken by the Customer Equipment. Testing equipment such as data loggers, if required, will be deployed to verify and monitor the load controlled during the initial DR Test Event. DR Test Events may occur inside or outside DR Season. NV Energy representatives from the Program will evaluate the response during the initial test to ensure compliance and site acceptance.

7. Customer Participation Requirements

Customer will receive networked HVAC thermostats and the necessary accessories at no charge. Properly implemented, the thermostats provide energy efficiency and demand savings in addition to gaining operations and maintenance efficiencies.

Participation in 75% of the events or a minimum of 15 events, whichever is less, is required. Customer may opt out of up to 25% of the installed thermostats during each DR Event without opting out of the entire event. A thermostat is considered opted-out when the temperature set point is lowered during an event. Each DR Event where 75% of the thermostats respond to the entire event is considered a participated event counted toward meeting the Customer obligation.

8. Load Reduction Strategy

Electric load reduction will be achieved by temporarily adjusting operating parameters of Customer Equipment at each facility at the beginning of a DR Event.

9. Training

There are several avenues for learning how to maximize the value of your new smart thermostat system.

- The Site Manager demo site allows you to experience almost all functions of the site manager so you can experience the intuitive interface for managing your new thermostats. https://demo.officeclimatecontrol.net/?username=pelican@gmail.com&password=pelican#\_indexPage
- The complete user manual describing the full functionality of the thermostats and Site Manager are available in printed and electronic versions.
- At the time of installation the installer will provide an administrator login and orientation of the key functions to manage thermostats with the Site Manager.
- Regularly scheduled webinar training will be available as a refresher, to teach new facility managers and provide advanced strategies on scheduling and site management.

A training session will be arranged with Customer to familiarize its staff with the control solution, including review of:

- Program participation processes
- Equipment scheduling and control features
- Portal usage and reporting

10. Implementation Plan and Estimated Timeline

NV Energy will assign a technical representative to install and configure the Program Equipment at the customer facility.

For many facilities, thermostats can be installed within two weeks of submitted application agreements. The installation, commissioning, testing, and verification of equipment can often be completed in as little as a few hours for smaller facilities. NV Energy representatives will contact the customer contact to schedule the install at an agreed upon time.
